

I have decided that I would like to do my final project on creating a minicomic(s). Minicomics are basically handmade comics. They can be about anything from love to politics. I still do not know what I would like my minicomics to be about, but I do have a couple of characters in mind. And I am also sure that I would like my minicomics to focus around urban issues/experiences just because I feel as though not much light is shed on this. Right now, I would say I am in the researching stage to see how to create a character design (clothing, personality, etc.) as well as what exactly do people want to see in these comics. This will be my first time ever doing something like this but I hope this will somehow open more doors in the illustration side of my career.

Below are a few character sketches. I haven't decided on any characters yet but these are kind of what I would like them to look like:

